RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

These to Be Presented to the Senate Committee by Col. Anderson, Other Matters Before the Body.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday evening at 6 o'clock. There were present Mr. H. L. Cabell, president, and Messrs, A. Bierne J. C. Freeman, Jacob Gans, C. W. Hard-Jr., R. G. Rennolds, N. R. Savage, W. Skelton, Charles Straus, John M. Taylor, S. M. Woodward, Coleman Wortham and L. C. Younger, directors, and Colonel George Wayne Anderson and Messrs. S. H. Hawes, A. M. Lyon, Jr.,

The first business in order was a communication from the Chamber's Committee on Commerce and Comercial Usages, calling attention to a proposed addition to the tax laws of the State, which will require the ugasurers of cities and counties to publish and post on the court house the names, purchases reported and taxes paid by merchants, etc. This communication caused an earnest and interesting discussion, in which nearly every one present participated.

PLAN NOT ENDORSED.

PLAN NOT ENDORSED.

While the sentiment of the meeting was unanimously in favor of such measures as might be necessary to make all citizens pay their just proportion of the laxes necessary to support the governtens pay their just proportion are made of the government, the wisdom of the plan suggested was seriously doubted. Senator Anderson, who was present by invitation, in unswer to some inquiries made of him, gave the meeting the benefit of all the information he had upon the subject, including the reasons which had prompted the addition proposed. Mr. J. C. Freeman, after declaring that he believed we could safely trust the representatives the State in the General Assembly to pass only such laws as were necosary to make every one bear his just share of the burden of taxation, offered the following which was unanimously adopted:
Received, That while this Chamber most heartily approves of the efforts the General Assembly is making to adopt more equitable methods of taxing the citizens of the State, it seriously questions the wisdom of the plan proposed of publishing and posting, as has been suggested, the merchantile class or any other class of tax payers.

The secretary was instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to Senator Anderson with the request that he would present the same to the Senate committee at its next meeting.

CARS ON SPUR TRACKS.

The Committee on Inland Trade submitted a report of its action in asking the City Council to embody in all new franchises or renewals of franchises for radiroad tracks in and through the city, a provision in the ordinances relating to same, that cars upon which there are no charges or charges have been fully paid, shall be switched or delivered by the carrier on spur tracks when requested to do so by the consignee or consignor. The report of the committee was appointed to represent the Chamber of Commerce.

The laind Trade Committee was appointed to represent the Chamber of Commerce.

The Committee on Commerce and Commercial to sages was requested to investigate the Torrens system of land resistration and to submit a report upon the biject at the next meeting of the board, Messrs. The Bard of Directors of the Richamord of the Chamber of commerce and commerce and commerce and commerce and commerce and commerce and we could safely trust the representatives of the State in the General Assembly to pass only such laws as were necessary

Just at this time the ideas with reference to the new organization are rather vague and indefinite. The movement was suggested by the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce and was concurred in by the Richmond Chamber. The call was thersupon issued, and a meeting of representative business men of the State was fixed for March 18th. At this meeting the advisability of forming the new body will be discussed and something definite with reference to its acope and so on will be decided.

The Board of Directors of the Richmond Chamber met yesterday and appointed the Inland Commerce Committee to represent it at the coming meeting.

Boaz Bill Recommended by Committee.

AMENDMENTS REJECTED

After Much Discussion Body Decides to Leave Selection of President of the *University Entirely to the Board of Visitors to the School.

The House Committee on Schools and Colleges yesterday afternoon, after a long debate, reported without amendment the bill offered by Mr. Boaz, of Albemarle, allowing the Board of Visitors of the University of Virginia, in their discretion, to create an executive head for that institution; to fill the office and strong fight was made for an amendment to render any member or ex-member of the Board, within four years, ineligible, and this was rejected, along with all others proposed.

The first speaker was Mr. John L. Williams, of this city, who earnestly contended in favor of the amendment. He intimated that the amendment was the outgrowth of the fight over Colonel Miles last summer, and he defended the latter and expressed the belief that no good man should be debarred from service as president of the University, simply because he had been a member of the good man should be dealired in the vice as president of the University, simply because he had been a member of the Board of Visitors. Indeed, he thought oftentimes this might be helpful rather than otherwise.

Hon. Henry C. Stuart, of the Board, spoke carnostly and eloquently against the amendment and in favor of the original bill. He did not think the case cited, of members of the Legislature being ineligible to office in the gift of that body was a parallel one, and could not see that the evil alleged in the case of the Legislature would grow out of the passage of the original Boaz bill.

He contended that the proposition here was to enact special legislation, and he thought it had been aimed at one man, meaning evidently Colonel Miles, Mr. Stuart's speech was one of great force and strength.

MR. TAYLOR SPEAKS.

MR. TAYLOR SPEAKS.

Owing to the great demand for admission, it has been decided to repeat the lecture this time to women only, thus giving fixeen hundred ladies the opportunity of hearing this, perhaps the greatest, address on the American platform. On Monday night at 8:30 o'clock Mr. Wendling will appear at Y. M. C. A. Hall, delivering his stirring lecture on modern doubt. "Unseen Realities." For oratory and logic it is to be doubted if Mr. Wendling has an equal on the American platand strength.

MR. TAYLOR SPEAKS.

Mr. Henry Taylor, Jr., of this city, earnestly favored the amendment. He did not think the amendment was meant to reflect upon any one, nor did he think it had that effect. Mr. Taylor was questioned by Mr. Stuart, and the two became engaged in a brief running debate over the propositions involved.

came engaged in the first rating decover the propositions involved.

Mr. Boaz, the author of the bill, who had accepted the amendment, spoke briefly and explained his reasons. He declared that he had not considered Colonel Miles after all that had gone on, and that he thought he had been eliminated. Colonel Miles had impressed him favorably, and he did not think the amendment was aimed at him and thought it was proper to accept it, which he did, as author of the bill. Mr. B. B. Minor spoke against the amendment in a brief but strong speech.

LETTER OF DENIAL Mr. M. M. M. McGuire read a letter from Mr. James P. Harrison, of Danville, who had suggested the amendment, absolutely deuying that the Miles controversy had in any way suggested its propriety, and a similar disclaimer was made by Mr. Taylor, who had drawn and submitted it through Mr. Duke, the chairman of the compilities.

lor, who had drawn and submitted it through Mr. Duke, the chairman of the committee.

Chairman Duke (Mr. Settle in the chair) spoke strongly for the bill as it was sought to be amended, and he made a strong appeal for the measure. He did not think the amendment was in any way aimed at any mentber or past member of the Board of Visitors, but he thought the inhibition proposed was a wise one.

At the end of the debate the committee reported the bill offered by Mr. Boaz without amendment in executive session. Some of those present were Hon. Eppa Hunton, Jr., B. B. Minor, Wyndham R. Meredith, Dr. Joseph W. Southall, Henry Taylor, Jr., Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, Professor J. P. McGuire, Senator Don. P. Halsey, M. M. McGuire, Captain W. W. Booker, A. W. Patterson.

At the Cheatres.

"Florodoro," presented at the Academy last night, is just the sort of play that Richmond adores, and it deserves all the good things that can be said about it. That it is a thing of beauty has been conceded by every one, and it almost looks as though it might be a joy forever.

Certainly the piece has lost none of its charm, It is still a thing of glittering externals, for the production is claborately unknifous. From beginning to end the stage blazes with color, and at no time does the action of the piece lag. The company looks well, dresses well and works very hard. It is an exceptionally large company, too, and coming at the ond of the season, it would be remarkable, indeed, if there were any loose joints. The performance is smooth and excellent, and the company on the whole bears favorable comparison with the one seen here last season. It includes two Richmond favorites, the graceful and statuesque Isadore Rush and the delightfully chie Corinne. Both were seen to excellent advantage and were warmly received.

Mr. Klernan was not a particularly

Mr. Kiernan was not a particularly happy substitute for Alf Wheelan, but none of the old favorites were really missed from the cast. In a production of counts most, and in the present instance the organization is stendily picturesque and wholly satisfactory.

There will be matinee and night per-formances to-day.

George M. Cohan's wholesome musical farce, "The Governor's Son," presented by the famous four Cohans and their big company under the direction of Mr. Fred Niblo, will be seen at the Academy tomorrow, matince and night. Once in a blue moon a new character is born in stageland, which is at once recognized as a bit of nature that had until then cluded authors and actors. In "The Governor's Son" George M. Cohan proves himself one of the few who in this generation bave enriched the theatre by a creation of this kind.

As a family they rank with the famous Vokes family of olden times and bid fair to continue in their position for some time to come. Each visit seems to give them a stronger hold on the public. The tour of the company is under the direction of Mr. Fred Niblo, who has used every effort to place them among the "leaders." The original cast and production will be seen.

George Sidney and his merry colorie continues to make a great hit in "Busy Izzy" at the Bijou. The piece is played to capacity audiences at every performto capacity audiences at every performance, and has had a phenonenal run in spite of opposition. It is clean, bright and infinitely witty. There is not a moment that could reasonably be called dull from start to finish, and there is music that is tuneful, costumes that are superband a setting that is bright and cheerful. The company is an unusually strong one, and the production as a whole has been voted one of the best musical coincides that has been seen at the Bijou this season.

"Herats Adrift" is the title of a thrilling melodrama which will be the offering next week for the first three days, with mattnee on Tuesday.

The Géorge Fawcett Company, headed by Mr. Gilmore and Miss Grace Kimball, will open an engagement of two matinees and three nights in "Siberia," a melodrama, on Thursday afternoon. Miss Lucille La Verne, formerly with the Giffen Company, is a member of this organization, and will play one of the important parts. De Witt Jennings and Mr. Hawkins are also in this company, so there will be many old friends to welcome.

The only attraction at the Academy next week will be the "Lady Minstrels" on Thursday night for the benefit of the local Heptasophs. There will be thirty ladies in the entertainment and seventeen many who are prominent in the order or minent in the order of men, who are prominent in in the local political circles.

The president of the association is Mr. Landstreet, of the United States Tobacco Company, of this city, and the treasurer is Mr. Adolph Osterloh, also of this place. All the local independent concerns hold membership in the association and are anxious to obtain the legislation which they declare will be to the vast benefit of the general trade.

Speaking of the matter vosterday, Mr. Osterloh said the association would probably go to work on Congress again next year. Meanwhile it has sent out to several States copies of the bill and they have been introduced in several State Legislatures. Among the States thus covered are; Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee Michigan, Wisconsin and Massachusetts. In each of them, including Virginia, the independent manufacturers are doing all they can to secure the passage of the bill.

Miss Aunspaugh's varied selections were fully illustrative of the poet's versatility in conception and expression. An appropriate reference to Lanler, the man, and to his life preceded the readman, and to his his preceded the read-ing, which began with the exquisite mu-sical "Song of the Chattahooche," Miss Aunspaught rendition bringing out with full force the deep undercurrent of spiritual meaning in the poem.

The next reading, "How Love Looked The next reading, "How Love Looked for Hell," a very unique number, was followed by "The Revenge of Harnish," which has been pronounced by Dr. Charles Kent, of the University of Virginia, to be one of the dnest ballads in the English language. The semi-humorous poem, "The Owl and the Robin," succeeded and came somewhat in the nature of a relief against the sombreness of what had gone before.

nature of a relief against the sombreness of what had gone before.
"The Symphony," one of Lanier's grandest efforts, closed the lecture. It was proluded by readings from the poet's letters, which attuned the minds of those present to receive his earnest plea for the practical application of the greatest command of all, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor."

As successor to the late Maurice J.
Griffin, Mr. Reuben T. Jennings was chosen as policeman for the Second District by the Police Commissioners at their meeting.

Mr. Jennings is well known. He was born in Fluvanna county, but has lived in Richmond most of his life. The unexpired term to which he was elected is to July, 1994. He was sworn in yesterday, and went on duty last night.

Mr. Jennings is looked upon as a most excellent man for the place.
